Dress To Impress
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s misdeeds and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. He is a little soused and has about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom that he’ll be skipped school that afternoon and must review his recitations for tomorrow. Tom’s half-brother, Sid, Tom’s half-brother, has returned from school and shows Tom that his uniform is still away from him. Tom says nothing to his aunt about what has happened.

Tom and the new arrival enter the second-floor chamber. In the dormitory, Snook and Mark. Tom has sworn the jingle himself to disguise his name. Tom goes out of the house to his surprise. He is surprised that Aunt Polly is satisfied, Tom is surprised that Aunt Polly is satisfied, Tom is surprised that Aunt Polly is satisfied.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white ally;” a kind of scuttle. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.
