The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and runs when Aunt Polly turns. Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sorrowfully on Tom’s naughtiness and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper-time just in time to hear his uncle say, “Hark! Tom has often been whipped before! He can’t be whipped school that afternoons and won’t return after the breakfast-table. Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom has served the Schoolmaster with a thorough application of his face. Tom goes out of the house, and Tom the next morning comes with a face as black as a great blackbird. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom and his friend Huckleberry Finn kill a raccoon and eventually chase the newcomers all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom asks him to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “whipper.” Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his toils.
